

Market Situation in Lithuania: Hiring Attitude and Training the Skills

As the labor market situation in Lithuania is changing fast and there is still a challenge to find the best Talents for the companies, the importance of collaboration and know-how sharing between the academic world and business plays a major role. Therefore, the presentation delivered by the biggest agency in the Baltics will provide a thorough market overview, highlighting current trends and challenges in recruitment. Also, the speaker will share insights on the most trending industries, candidates' expectations, and statistical metrics that indicate and forecast the dynamics of the labor market in the upcoming years. Inga will emphasize the importance of soft competencies for successful career starts and share valuable tips for effective job interviews, focusing on expectations and optimal self-presentation. Last but not least Inga will emphasize critical thinking, emotional intelligence, and other soft competencies that are and will be essential in the future.